

The Courier

XXXI, No. 2

Clarke College, Dubuque, Iowa

October 16, 1959

Banners Heralding Christ the King

are examined by Mary Ann Leffingwell, Buffalo, N.Y., NF senior delegate and Geraldine Staehlin, St. Louis, Mo., campus Mariology chairman. The liturgical symbols are carried at the head of the procession for the Feast of Christ the King.

College Convocation Program Concludes Anniversary Year

Honoring the conclusion of the 125th anniversary year of the BVM community, the Very Rev. Msgr. William A. Roach, JCD, chancellor of the Dubuque archdiocese and chaplain at Mt. Carmel, will address the student body at the fall convocation, Oct. 29 at 1:50 p.m. in Terence Donaghoe hall. Title of Monsignor's address is "1843-1959: Years of Grace."

The Clarke Schola will sing the hymn, Jubilate Deo by Flor Peeters. Singing of the recently composed song Our College by Miss Miriam Geiger will conclude the program. Miss Geiger is a member of the music faculty.

Exhibit Reflects College Integration With UN Agencies

A United Nations display, tentatively scheduled for the weekend of Oct. 23 in the concourse of Mary Josita hall, will centralize interest on the relation of the various departments of the college to the work of the UN and its agencies. Dr. Robert Horgan's United Nations class and co-operating college departments are promoting the project.

Posters, displays and copies of actual historical documents will show the interrelations. "We are trying," says Dr. Horgan, "to show the students that the fields they are majoring in here are applicable in the world scene. Perhaps it will open new job areas to some students." Mathematics, for instance, is indirectly related to all UN organs. Through budgets and statistics, he showed. Linguistic knowledge has immediate use in the simultaneous translation into six to eight languages at the sessions, he further illustrated.

Members of the UN class acting as co-ordinators with the various departments are: Sister Mary Ellarose, BVM, for art, speech, drama, music and philosophy; Eileen Coughlin for English and classical and modern foreign languages; Joann Jolin for economics and mathematics; Alice Kamp for history and political sciences; Nancy Klucken for home economics and physical education; Barbara Kondor for journalism, psychology and sociology; and Mary Lorraine Kramer for the sciences.

Courier Honored; Rated All-Catholic

Publication of Distinction rating for the 1958-59 Courier rounded a decade of distinguished ranking for the Clarke newspaper from the Catholic School Press Association.

The Courier scored 940 out of a possible 1,000 points in various areas of appearance, accuracy, news coverage, editorial content and service to campus and community.

Co-editors of last year's newspaper were Colleen Howard and Maura Maloy. Sister Mary Consolata, BVM, moderated the publication.

Junior Toni Flynn merited a first prize in the college article division of the writing contest for her article on Senator John Kennedy, "Man of the Hour," which appeared in the summer edition of the Labarum. An honorable mention went to Rosemary McGuirk, senior, for her Courier feature article on Christian symbolism in American history.

Annual OpenHouseHeld; College Winners Chosen In Dream Room Contest

Three rooms were selected as "Dream Rooms" at the Clarke open house, Sunday, Oct. 11. All guests were invited to vote in the Courier-sponsored contest.

Selected in Mary Josita hall, Alpha commons was a group-project winner. Dream room N in Mary Frances Clarke hall was decorated by roommates Peggy Barrett and Victoria Osorio. Winners in Mary Bertrand hall were Rhonda and Rose O'Toole. Winners in Constance Groves, Anne Porter and Constance Hosch in Room 361.

Feastday Activities Continue Traditions

Traditional observances of Christ the King Sunday, Oct. 25, will open with 10 a.m. Mass in Terence Donaghoe hall. The Rev. Clarence Friedman, chaplain, will celebrate Mass and deliver the sermon.

Formal ranks will be led by CSA president Joann Jolin; class presidents Elaine Lynch, Patti Pederson, Ann Coffey and the chairman of the freshman board of governors. They will carry religious banners.

Perpetual adoration in Sacred Heart chapel will close with Benediction at 6:30 p.m.

The plans, sponsored by NFCCS, are being headed by Mary Ann Leffingwell, senior delegate, and Gerry Staehlin, chairman of the Mariology commission.

Pianist Soulima Stravinsky To Perform Father's Music

Interpreting a Tango and Two Etudes by Igor Stravinsky, Soulima Stravinsky will appear Saturday, Oct. 24 at 2:30 p.m. in Terence Donaghoe hall. Also a foremost interpreter of Mozart and Scarlatti, soloist Stravinsky will present Mozart's Sonata in D Major and Three Sonatas by Scarlatti.

Stemming from his French background and his familiarity with the great masters of that country, Mr. Stravinsky is an authority on all matters pertaining to French music. Included in his Saturday performance are works by Debussy, Chopin and Mendelssohn as well as selections by Bartok and Prokofiev.

In addition to his formal recital, Mr. Stravinsky will hold a lecture-demonstration on contemporary music, Friday at 3:40 p.m. in the solarium of Margaret Mann hall. The discussion will include compositions by his father and himself. He will also conduct a master class for piano majors.

Mr. Stravinsky has published "Eighteen Cadenzas for Mozart Concerti" and has completed a set of preludes for publication under the title of "Art of Scales."

Professors Present Talk; Seek Definition of Beauty

A symposium "What is Beauty?" will be presented by Dr. Ivan Boh, instructor in philosophy, and Mr. Edmund R. Demers, associate professor of art, Oct. 20 at 7 p.m. in the activity room. Informal discussion and questions will follow the presentation.

Sponsored by the departments of philosophy and art, the program is open to faculty and students.

Chekhov Comes to Clarke In Traveling Arts Display

Sponsored by the Clarke drama department, the traveling Chekhov Art exhibit of the Moscow Art theater will enliven the concourse of Mary Josita hall beginning Oct. 23.

The 100th anniversary of Anton Pavlovich Chekhov, famous and influential Russian playwright and short story author, occurs in 1960.

The exhibit previews a project entitled "An Evening with Chekhov," one-act play performances, which senior speech and drama majors Audrey Engels and Karol Burbridge will present this spring.

Consisting of pictured scenes from such plays as The Cherry Orchard, Uncle Vanya and The Sea Gull, the exhibit will also contain programs, prompt books and original manuscripts. Photographs of Chekhov's home, the Moscow Art theater and the theater's founders will be included. The showing will also display collections from literary materials of Tolstoy and Dostoevsky.

Chekhov's appeal has multiplied in popularity through the years. The modern short story reflects his influence. Writing principally for the Russian people, he tried, sometimes by the use of comedy, to make them forget their everyday problems.

While in America, the exhibit is sponsored by the American Education Theater Association. It has been at many colleges and universities throughout the country.

Honors Society Sets Nov. Program

The Clarke College Honors Society adopted a program for 1959-60 at the planning day, Oct. 5. The next regular meeting, Thursday Nov. 5, at 7 p.m., will present a panel forum "Communism and Its Breeding Grounds." Diane Hammes, Elaine Lynch and Rosemary McGuirk are preparing the program.

At an open meeting, Dec. 3, the group will consider the recent theatrical hit, A Raisin in the Sun, written, produced and acted by Negro artists. A debate on the inclusion of a department of culture in the president's cabinet to endorse and materially subsidize such groups as a National Ballet, will occur at the Jan. 7 meeting.

On Feb. 4, the group will study the contrasting purposes of science as seen by Francis Bacon and James B. Conant. The analysis of the Catholic-Protestant Dialog with its repercussions in the political sphere will be presented and discussed at the March 31 meeting. On May 5, another open meeting, panelists will consider facets of the Twenty-First Ecumenical Council. A business meeting will conclude the year's activities.

Students Honor Parents At Biennial Celebrations; Mass Will Begin Events

Clarke students will honor their mothers and fathers with varied activities on the biennial Parents Day, Sunday, Oct. 18.

A high Mass at 10 a.m. in Terence Donaghoe hall will initiate the day's proceedings. The Rev. Clarence W. Friedman, college chaplain, will be celebrant. The student body will sing the Mass Cum Jubilo. The Psalm-tone settings of the propers and a motet, O Sacrum Convivium by Remondi, will be sung by the Schola. As a recessional the Schola will sing Cherubim Hymn by Gretchaninoff.

A buffet luncheon in Mary Josita hall will follow the Mass.

In the afternoon, an open house will allow parents and visitors to tour all buildings on campus. A special point of interest will be the art exhibit in the concourse of Mary Josita hall.

Sister Mary Benedict, BVM, college president, will address the visitors in Terence Donaghoe hall at 3:30 p.m. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will close the festivities.

Clarke NF Meets On Regional Level

Clarke and Loras students will go by bus to Davenport tomorrow to attend the Iowa Regional NFCCS fall workshop at Marycrest college.

The workshop will open with 9:30 a.m. registration and a keynote address.

Among the morning commission sessions the Literary commission, whose regional chairman is Mary Helen Sanders of Clarke, will give a critical analysis of contemporary literary periodicals. The Forensics commission, headed by Jeanne Glenn of Clarke, will discuss the encouragement of inexperienced speakers.

Following an 11:45 a.m. Mass and lunch, the afternoon commission meetings will begin. The Science commission, of which Clarkite Jean Ryan is regional chairman, will hear an address by Professor James D. Resnick of St. Ambrose college on "Philosophy and Science."

A general report of all the commission meetings and a coffee hour will close the fall workshop agenda.

Faculty Members Attend Conventions

Eleven Clarke college faculty members will participate in a variety of conferences and meetings held this month.

Sister Mary St. Rose, BVM, dean of studies, Sister Mary Teresa Francis of Mount Carmel and Sister Mary Edward, PBVM, will attend a meeting of the Iowa Commission of Teacher Education and Professional Standards on Oct. 27 and 28 at the Iowa State university in Ames. Subjects for discussion are: standards of professional practice, education of teachers and the curriculum program.

Miss Grace Ryan of the education department will represent Clarke at another meeting in Ames. Miss Ryan is attending the state meeting of the Association for Student Teaching on Oct. 16 and 17.

Also on Oct. 16 and 17, Sister Mary Ann Pauline, BVM, Sister Mary Ignacio, BVM, and Sister Mary Robert, PBVM, will attend the third annual conference for Midwest College Biology Teachers held at the University of Notre Dame.

Sister Mary Madelena, BVM, director of public relations, spoke to the Archdiocesan Teachers Institute at Independence on Oct. 15 and 16. Sister delivered two talks on public

(Continued on page 4)

Soulima Stravinsky

Clarke College Orchestra needs you to start its new musical season! If you play any type of instrument, especially the strings, contact Mr. McGowan in 104 EKH.

Here's What We Think . . .

Spirituality in the family is the theme of Mrs. Mary Reed Newland, author, prominent laywoman and mother, who answered questions of Clarke students and faculty in the solarium Friday, Oct. 2.

Several students have expressed their views in answer to the question: Are Mary Reed Newland's ideas on spirituality in family life sound and practical?

Joanne Kordick, senior chemistry major, Des Moines, says: "I think her ideas are definitely sound enough, but in her situation they seem to be too ideal. I think the reason for our difficulty in accepting her views as possible is that she, in order to help us, has painted a picture of complete perfection which I am sure is not entirely true. The true picture is one of striving toward perfection in which case I think her views should be accepted and used by all Catholic parents, each in his own circumstances."

Mary Jane Vonderhaar, junior home economics major, Des Moines, comments:

"In my opinion, Mary Reed Newland's ideas on spirituality in the family were inspirational, but somewhat idealistic. It would require exceptional parents with a special gift of grace to carry out the ideal picture she painted. However, I am certain that everyone who heard Mrs. Newland speak was filled with a strong desire and resolution to incorporate some of her enthusiasm and conviction into the training of her own children."

Jan Kellen, senior psychology major, LeMars, states:

"Mary Reed Newland's ideas about family life spirituality would be a little difficult for the average family to attain. Her point that a mother must be aware of Christ more often than at set prayer times was well taken, though, for in this way she would be more likely to pass these feelings on to the family members. However, no parent can be preoccupied with the spiritual life all the time. Modern life won't permit it."

Barbara Bohn, senior psychology major, Arlington Heights, Ill., evaluates:

"In all honesty, Mrs. Newland's theories on spiritual development seem extreme to me. There is, in all her theories, much of value but it must be remembered that things are good only to a degree. Could a child, reared in such an environment, be content when he is out in the world working and living with people whose ideas differ? I do not advocate conformity but a certain amount is necessary for peaceful existence in society."

Left, top to bottom: Joanne Kordick, Mary Jane Vonderhaar, Jan Kellen, Barbara Bohn.

Cancer A 'Gift' Says T. Dooley

To the average man, the knowledge that he has been struck by cancer would be a good reason to forget his work and ambitions and resign himself in despair. But Dr. Thomas A. Dooley is not an average man. To Dr. Dooley, this treacherous foe appears not as a formidable curse, but as a gift useful in spreading the word of God.

Dr. Dooley first appeared on the international scene in 1954 when he went to the tiny kingdom of Laos to prove that Americans and the Catholic Church are indeed concerned about the physical, as well as the spiritual welfare, of those within their sphere of influence. Dr. Tom, as he is affectionately called, treats an average of 100 Laos tribesmen a day in the jungle hospital which he established. His work is done under the auspices of MEDICO, the private medical program he initiated to bring medical aid to forsaken areas through the world.

It is unusual today for a man of learning and potential to dedicate his life to people who will never be able to give him monetary compensation. But Dr. Tom Dooley seeks no such reward. His ideals of Catholicity pervade his every movement. His work shines out as an example of a living Lay Apostolate.

It is with thoughts of illness to be conquered, tribal prejudices and superstitions yet to be overcome, and souls to be won for Christ that Dr. Dooley anxiously awaits his return to Laos in December. Until then he will lecture throughout the United States.

The people of the western and eastern world have at least this one point in common, an admiration of Dr. Tom. They can see the achievements wrought by one man with ideals and the courage to uphold them. They look to him as an example. Perhaps this is what prompted Dr. Dooley, in a recent interview for The Tidings, archdiocesan paper of Los Angeles, California, to say of his affliction, "It's a gift. He (God) wants me to use it. Thousands of people know me. They follow me in what I do.

"Now I have cancer. That's not important. It's how I react to cancer. These people will see how I react.

"Thousands of women who have tiny cancers think they can't do the dishes, can't have children, can't go on. As a doctor, I know this.

"Maybe they will say, 'Well, Tom Dooley is going back to the stinking jungle. Maybe I can do the dishes.' "That is my new gift."

Times may have changed since Christ said to His Apostles, "Come Follow Me." However, it is still possible to have the courage to shoulder one's personal cross. Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, physician, surgeon and Catholic layman has proved this.

Girl Meets Book: Result-New Views

If you want to get a polite but skeptical look — or a full-fledged groan from the less inhibited — try telling a group of people about the joys of reading a book. The familiar college plea is: "But I can't even get my assigned reading done. How can I find time just to read a book."

A book, read purely for enjoyment, leaves you with more than joy. There is the luxurious feeling of escaping from studies without the guilt of wasting time.

You meet the most fascinating people! Who could forget or fail to love Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn? You can laugh with Shirley Jackson as she relates the lighter side of family life in Raising Demons or cry with Natasha in War and Peace or struggle against nature with Hemingway's old man in The Old Man and the Sea — all this within the space of an evening without traveling farther than the library.

Ever complain that you never get to go anywhere? Try viewing New York's East Side with Harry Golden in Only in America or going "inside" countries along with John Gunther.

If your tastes are more serious, turn to Dostoevsky and review the effects of guilt on Raskolnikov in Crime and

BVM Spirit Endures

In the new habit or the old, in Hawaii or Iowa, there is something distinctive about our BVM Sisters. We talk of school spirit, well, there is a BVM spirit, too; simple and efficient, humble and restrained, just and charitable.

As the young children in the family imitate their mother so the BVM Sisters model themselves after the spirituality of their own Mother Mary Frances Clarke. Her example is like a delicate but strong white nylon cord which binds together the religious community.

Through a special vocation each Sister is attracted to this unwavering BVM spirit. In the novitiate she strives, not to paint her personality and God-given talents with a false veneer of BVMism, but to direct her individuality toward goals that count. By means of disciplines offered to Christ she develops poise and control of her physical make-up allowing a more disciplined mind and eventual evolution in her spiritual life.

Perhaps one could include all the observable characteristics of our Sisters in three facets, the core of their rule: simplicity, humility and charity.

An obvious attitude of simplicity is the lack of pretense among the Sisters. Since their "boss" is Christ, they can be their own natural selves. The Sisters share the same simplicity in aim and goal, everything being done for the honor and glory of God.

Like "little children" of Mary, the BVM community maintains a traditional spirit of prayer and confidence in God. Not idle pietists, they use every human means, for instance, to finance a new school building; then they besiege heaven with trusting prayers for the extra boost. Mother Clarke once promised one novena for the phenomenally fast passage of the Congregation's Rule in Rome and another in thanksgiving. But no matter what happened, Mother Clarke wrote, she would offer the second novena. This is the BVM prayer spirit.

Humility is a rather hidden virtue. Isn't one aspect of it the certain restraint and reserve which marks our Sisters? Mother Clarke's philosophy provides the answer. She believed, and they in turn believe, that each Sister should always give her best. Thankless jobs such as, daily classes and moderating clubs and activities are performed because they are part of the duties to which a sister is dedicated, not for the praise of the recipients. Quality performances don't need embellishment or publicity, the BVM feels. A job well done speaks for itself.

The BVM spirit of charity needs little explanation to anyone who has benefited from their works. It involves a complete giving and loving to the poor, to the inconsiderate student and even to those who openly misrepresent them. A corresponding sense of justice exists, which is rigid in personal application, but tempered with mercy toward others.

Since Mother Clarke's insistence on a piano and the study of good manners and French at her school on the rim of the miner's frontier, in complete love, the BVMs have spared no personal sacrifice to bring the best in life to those under their influence. Clarke's superior facilities for the fine arts and the Sisters' insistence on dignity of bearing and womanliness from their students reflect this attitude.

Since the Sisters formed their community one-hundred and twenty-six years ago this November 1, and moved out on the Iowa prairie, the buildings have changed from log cabins to skyscrapers, but the unswerving strength of the BVM spirit endures.

Punishment, or share the ideas of noted intellectuals such as Jacques Barzun's views on education in Teacher in America or T. S. Eliot's comments on literature.

Possibly philosophy is your forte and Jacques Maritain's Existence and the Existent would provide matter for thought and discussion. Or, if you prefer modern problems, look to Father Martin D'Arcy's book, Communism and Christianity, to augment your knowledge of these conflicting ideologies and their influences in human life

The courier

clarke college

dubuque, iowa

Vol. XXXI

Oct. 16, 1959

No. 2

CSPA Award of Distinction

Entered as Second Class matter January 20, 1930, at the Post Office at Dubuque, Iowa, under the Act of March 3, 1879. $2.00 per year. Published semi-monthly during the college year, except Christmas and Easter vacations, retreat and examination periods.

Editor — Rosemary McGuirk
Associate Editors — Ellen Fox, Terry Daly, Patricia Ramer

Feature Editor — Patricia Mackey

Managing Editor — Beth Bongirno

Copy Editors — Bernadine Fleury

Proof Editors — Mary Jo Rossi

Paula Cunningham

Sports Editor — Mary Jane Sohan

Artist — Barbara Knapczyk

Reporters — Mary

Paula Becker, Kay Cho, Ellen Clark, Carol

Gantenbein, Marie Hart, Marya Hieger, Judy

Heitzmann, Alice Kamp, Patricia Lyman,

Mary Frances McLaughlin, Debby Maertz,

Patricia Musel, Sandra Rodemeyer, Marilyn

Roth, Mary Smiley, Sue Stuhlsatz, Eleanor

Thompson, Roselynn Vogl.

Testing the German occupy speech Sterling, Ill., Sheila M more from Osceda.

CLRK Ra Broadcast

Testing, testing With the new technicians eagerly critical listeners.

All programs the second floor of 4 to 5 p.m.

Topics range and analyses. Po attractions include shows and information campus activities such as lectures. An added several 30-minute show standard 15-minute bro

"Variety is the key year's schedule," station san Voss, sophomore, phatically.

The staff includes majors in Mr. George H and TV techniques of Clarke girl "free-lancin Loras student. Sister BVM, serves as moder more Sheila Moran is ager, while Kay Doty ar samo, also sophomores, chairmen.

As Sister Mary Jere the participation of stud broadcasts puts into pr ories and training stres

"In an all-out effort audible signals to every the campus, the equipm completely overhauled ju school year began," sized, "and tests were s Signals are received Clarke campus by dia Mary Frances Clarke in Mary Josita hall.

A. Engels, C. W Direct Social An For High School

Audrey Engels and ler, senior drama major ing social arts classes fo girls this semester on S 10 to 11:30 a.m.

A tentative schedule i on poise, good groom table setting, correspo diction and traveling is being conducted form, using actual will allow the girls to F arts into practice.

Listen to Living Literature; Visit the Library Vocarium

by Pat Mackey

One left turn beyond the library periodical room lies a wonderful world of sound — the vocarium.

Is your preference Chaucer, the voices of the presidents, contemporary poetry or Sheridan's School for Scandal? Whatever your field of interest, you are bound to find a vocarium record to please your taste.

The more than 100 records in the vocarium painlessly open to the listener a new dimension in learning. Cozy and receptive in a sitting-room atmosphere, you can listen to Judith Anderson in Medea or Helen Hayes as Queen Victoria. Plays, poetry, voices from history and lectures in education and science are all available adventures in this charming chamber of sound.

There might be some Shakespearean subtleties you missed in your first reading that suddenly will become clear in the expression of experienced actors. Richard III, Hamlet, Macbeth, Henry V, Julius Caesar and the Merchant of Venice are all on the vocarium shelf. Christopher Fry's The Lady's Not for Burning, T. S. Eliot's Murder in the Cathedral and The Cocktail Party and Arthur Miller's Death of a Salesman are among the other dramas there for your listening enjoyment. Or do you prefer Chekhov, Ibsen or scenes from Cyrano de Bergerac? They are waiting for listeners in the same little room.

If you believe that poetry is meant to be heard, you will want a vocarium date with Coleridge, Dylan Thomas, Gerard Manley Hopkins, e e cummings, Ogden Nash, Edith Sitwell or Robert Frost. When no one is looking you might want to slip the delightful Reluctant Dragon or The 500 Hats of Bartholomew Cubbins out of its cover and onto the turntable.

Do you like Einstein or Ike better than Eliot? Give some time to theoretical physicist Dr. Edward Teller's discussion of the theory of relativity or "Mr. President" from FDR to Eisenhower. All future teachers will want to hear Jacques Barzun's "The Care and Feeding of the Mind" or Mr. Robert Hutchins' "The Promise of Education."

And no matter what you find your favorite, how could you resist being soothed by Irish ballads read by Siobhan McKenna? Well, if you are heading directly for the vocarium, you had better hurry because the last one there has to sit on the floor!

Testing the Control Panel, rereading script and Herman occupy speech and drama majors Judy Augustine, freshman from Sterling, Ill., Sheila Moran, sophomore, Chicago, and Susan Voss, sophomore from Osceola.

CLRK Radio Season Begins; Broadcasts Promise Variety

Testing, testing... one, two, three. CLRK is on the air! With the new school year in full swing, Clarke's radio technicians eagerly face the challenge of pleasing hundreds of critical listeners.

All programs will be broadcast from the CLRK studio on the second floor of Eliza Kelly hall, five times a week from 4 to 5 p.m.

Topics range from recorded music to literature readings and analyses. Poetry reading is being considered. Special attractions include departmental shows and information regarding campus activities such as concerts and lectures. An added feature will be several 30-minute shows, plus the standard 15-minute broadcasts.

The staff includes the 14 drama majors in Mr. George Herman's radio and TV techniques class, another Clarke girl "free-lancing" it and a Loras student. Sister Mary Jeremy, BVM, serves as moderator. Sophomore Sheila Moran is station manager, while Kay Doty and Donna Balsamo, also sophomores, are publicity chairmen.

"Variety is the keynote of this year's schedule," station director Susan Voss, sophomore, stated emphatically.

As Sister Mary Jeremy explained, the participation of students in actual broadcasts puts into practice the theories and training stressed in class. "In an all-out effort to transmit audible signals to every building on the campus, the equipment was completely overhauled just before the school year began," Susan emphasized, "and tests were successful."

Signals are received only on the Clarke campus by dialing 1000 in Mary Frances Clarke hall and 690 in Mary Josita hall.

A. Engels, C. Wendler, Direct Social Arts Class For High School Girls

Audrey Engels and Connie Wendler, senior drama majors, are directing social arts classes for high school girls this semester on Saturdays from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

A tentative schedule includes classes on poise, good grooming, make-up, table setting, correspondence, voice, diction and traveling. The class is being conducted in workshop form, using actual demonstrations with the students. In January, a tea will allow the girls to put their social arts into practice.

"Home Ec Challenging" Say Club Members

A panel discussion "The Challenges of Home Economics — Present and Future" will highlight the first home economics club meeting, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in the home economics center.

Plans will be made for the Home Economics College Club State Day which will be held Oct. 31 at the Iowa State university in Ames. Preparations for the Dec. 1 open house will also be discussed.

McCaughey Art Visualizes Picturesque Local Color, Quaint Old World Charm

Old World charm plus local color will deck Mary Josita hall concourse Sun, Nov. 1, when the Lorraine and William McCaughey art exhibit opens.

An architect, Mr. McCaughey paints as a hobby. The Clarke exhibit will include more than 50 oils and watercolors by the Park Ridge, Ill., couple. Interested in the preservation of historic places, Mr. and Mrs. McCaughey will devote a major portion of their show to scenes painted in and around Galena, Ill. Other quaint spots which caught the artists' fancy are the fishing village of Gloucester, Mass.; Taxco, Mexico and Charleston S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaughey have exhibited regularly at the Riccardo Restaurant Gallery in Chicago. Mr. McCaughey has shown watercolors at the Pickwick theatre in Park Ridge, Ill.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McCaughey have studied at the Art Institute of Chicago. Mr. McCaughey has studied under Henry Turner Bailey in New York as well as in Palm Beach, Fla.

CCP Meeting Stars Film With Mimic M. Marceau

A movie of performances by the contemporary French mime, Marcel Marceau, will receive top billing at the Oct. 21 meeting of the Clarke College Players.

The meeting will be held in the union at 7 p.m., according to Margaret Stein, president.

Three's Charming if they are Clarke girls and sisters. The Enzlers are Carol, junior; Jean, senior and Mary Pat, freshman. From a family of 13, they come from Bethesda, Md.

Directory of Patrons

ART SUPPLIES and PAINTS

Model Wallpapers and Paint Co., 950 Main.

AUTOMOBILE DEALERS

Bird Chevrolet Co. 600 Iowa.

BAKERY GOODS

Trausch Baking Company, Bakers of Sunbeam Bread, 25 S. Main.

Sweetheart Bakery, 1130 Iowa

BANKS

American Trust & Savings, 9th and Main.

BEVERAGES

Seven-Up Bottling Co. of Dubuque, Ia.

CLEANERS

Lorenz Laundry, Dry Cleaners, 19th and Jackson.

CONTRACTORS and ENGINEERS

Dubuque Plumbing & Heating Co., 100 Bryant.

Iowa Engineering Co., 2100 Central Ave.

Conlon Construction Co., 240 Railroad.

DAIRY PRODUCTS

Meadow Gold Milk and Meadow Gold Ice Cream, 2167 Central.

Hilldale Dairy

36th and Jackson Sts.

DEPARTMENT STORES

J. C. Penney Co., Inc. Stampfer's, 8th and Main for Shopping Satisfaction.

DRUGGISTS

Torbert Drug Co., 100 Main

ELECTRICAL

Byrne & Neyens Co., 1205 Cleveland.

OFFICE SUPPLIES

Business Supply, 648 Main

FOODS

Johnnies' Across from Senior High, 1897 Seminary.

Chicken-on-Wheels We deliver—2-8825

FURNITURE

Dubuque Mattress Co., 180 Main. "Buy direct - save."

HARDWARE

F. M. Jeger, 622 Main.

INTERIOR DECORATORS

John C. Kaiser Co., 68-72 Main.

Pfohl Venetian Blind Co., 335 W. First Street.

MANUFACTURERS

Metz Manufacturing Co., 17th and Elm Streets

MEATS

Dubuque Packing Company, 16th and Sycamore.

MILLWORK

Hurd-Most Sash & Door Co.,

OPTICIANS

Klauser Optical Company, 401 American Trust Bldg.

PAPER DEALERS

Weber Paper Company, 135 Main.

PRINTERS

The Hoermann Press, 498 Main.

Telegraph-Herald, 401 8th Ave.

RESTAURANTS

Diamond's Grill, 9th and Main.

ROOFING

Geisler Brothers, 532 Locust

SOAP AND WAX

Midland Laboratories, Dubuque, Iowa

Midwest Chemical and Special Co., 1598 Central Ave.

TV

Dubuque-Jerrold, T.V. Cable Corporation

A Friend

as janice kellen sees it . . .

it happens here

foot-in-mouth distinction . . .

this week is awarded to Toni Cardenas. In describing a Loras student who is observing the same class as she at Wahlert high school Toni stated, "He's the one who is co-operating with me!" Above the gales of laughter from her friends, the explanation, "I mean we both have the same cooperating teacher!" could barely be appreciated.

difficulties began . . .

for one of the girls working at the desk at Mary Frances Clarke hall when she was told that the zone was station five. When calls poured in, students in the area began to wonder where the other four zones were when they heard, "Zone Five, Zone Five," coming over the ampicall.

the ampicall anecdotes . . .

continue. One Clarkite respectfully answering "yes, Sister" and "no, Sister" was told emphatically "This isn't Sister, it's Sharon Morrow."

courtesy was foiled . . .

when Jo Jolin joined a group in beta commons during orientation week. Ginnie Weldon, wishing a partner in her uke serenade, asked, "Do you know 'Sarah'?" Jo, not recognizing the song title, politely replied, "No, I don't think I've met any of these girls."

a misplaced Las Vegas? . . .

wondered freshman Mary Fessler, who last week put a quarter into the candy machine in Mary Josita hall only to be bombarded by a cascade of $2.30 in nickels.

down the chute . . .

for the second time since her arrival, rattled the waste paper basket of freshman Margaret Vonderhaar. A quick recovery of the vigorously shaken article was possible the first time but the second accident proved fatal, for the basket at least.

CSA Masquerade Dance To Spark Halloween Fun On Oct. 31 in Gym, Union

Masks and costumes will set the stage for the CSA annual Halloween dance, Oct. 31 at 9 p.m. in the gym and union. Judy Gavin, senior, is chairman for the event. Committee members for the all-school activity will represent all four classes.

All persons not wearing a costume will be outfitted as they arrive. Prizes will be awarded for original costuming. A combo will provide live music.

Mr. Max Clark Speaks To AAUW Members About Retarded Children

Retarded children will be the subject of an address by Mr. Max Clark on Oct. 22 at 8 p.m. in the solarium of Margaret Mann hall for the Dubuque branch of the American Association of University Women. Clarke's freshman chorus will provide entertainment. Miss Grace Ryan of the Clarke education department is chairman of the event.

Assisting Miss Ryan is the past president of the Clarke Alumnae Association, Mrs. Henry J. Pohlman, chairman of the hostess arrangements. Miss Marian Howie, director of admissions, Miss Constance Locher, alumnae secretary and other members of the local AAUW compose her committee.

Panel of Chemists Treat Criminology

"The Role of Science in Criminology" will be the Science Forum topic on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. in the activity room. The program will serve to acquaint college science students with forensic science or the part played by science in criminology.

Topics to be discussed include the function of the lie detector, legal medicine and the roles of biology, chemistry and physics in the police laboratory.

Sandra Parisi is chairman of the panel of chemistry majors: Joanne Gavin, Geraldine Staehlin, Mary Ellen Spellmire and Anne Brown. Technical assistants helping with the demonstrations of scientific crime detection will be Geraldine Foss, Clara Whang and Eva Marinich.

Pumpkin-Carving Party Prepares Dinner Decor

Clarkites will enjoy a senior-sponsored Halloween dinner, Oct. 28 at 6 p.m. in the student dining room. Jean Ryan is general chairman for the event. Under the direction of Ginny Weldon, the seniors are planning decorations for the occasion.

Joining efforts, the seniors will hold their traditional pumpkin-carving party on Tuesday night, Oct. 27. Chairman Rosemary Kautzky will provide refreshments for the preparation party.

Talking NF are speakers Robert Valder, Constance Kuhl, David Peterson, Mary A. Studebaker, and Jack Billion.

Up and over in a graceful, balanced action move Kathleen Gannon, sophomore from LaGrange Park, Ill., and her mount. Kathy has won various cups, ribbons and medals for her horsemanship.

Equestrienne Kathy Gannon Tells Thrill of Hunt, Shows

Bareback riding is the best way to learn to balance and "to move with the horse" claims Clarkite-equestrienne Kathleen Gannon.

Kathy, who holds several ribbons, cups and trophies from Chicago-area horse shows, began riding at the age of five when, tearful and frightened, she first mounted a horse at a friend's farm. Since then she has become an avid horse lover and accomplished rider. Kathy began showing when she was seven and won fourth place in the hunter division of the International in Chicago. The equestrienne spends her summers training horses and teaching her bareback style of riding at the Old Oak Farm in Hinsdale, Ill.

Specializing in thoroughbred hunters and jumpers, Kathy owns her own hunter, 12-year-old chestnut Deuce of Hearts. She began riding in the winter foxhunts at Oakbrook in Hinsdale, Ill., as a junior in high school. Kathy mentioned that the hunt season opens in October with the blessing of the hounds, a ceremony at which a Catholic priest sprinkles the hounds with holy water, and blesses and gives religious medals to the riders. Except on hunts, Kathy prefers bareback riding even in winter, because of the effect of cold on the saddle.

In contrast with the free and natural outdoor setting of the hunt, the horseshow has a formal and fastidious atmosphere. The hunter must measure at least 16 hands, have 13 braids in its mane and exhibit an exact and smooth gait. The distinction between the hunter and jumper classes is that the hunter is more muscularly developed in the shoulders and chest and has greater endurance. The height of a jumper's hurdles are the greatest factor in judging, while the hunter may brush the hurdle with his forelegs in a jump but his gait on the flats must be perfect.

Judges also consider the attire of the rider, as well as the necessary presence of a sandwich and a flask of liquor in the saddlebag, a tradition which derives from the cold and damp climate British riders had to endure. "In the International," Kathy noted, "neither your horse nor you may have a hair out of place." The most important aspect in judging the rider is the quietness of her hands. Kathy stressed, "Nervous hands give your horse the jitters."

After the strain of ring competition, Kathy explained, riders go to the stables for further rivalry by outdoing one another in decorating the stables with trophies and awards.

in a graceful, balanced action move Kathleen Gannon, sophomore from LaGrange Park, Ill., and her mount. Kathy has won various cups, ribbons and medals for her horsemanship.

SISEA Members Entertain Region

Clarke prospective teachers hosted the fall regional meeting of the SISEA, Oct. 13. The theme of the convention was "Educated Eyes and Ears." Ten colleges in the north-eastern Iowa region sent delegates.

After the cafeteria luncheon, Judy Ahern, president of Clarke's SISEA, presided at the second general session. Clarke musicians providing entertainment were Felice Lownik, Sandra Tambornino, Ardyth Peters and Anne Maley.

Clarke committee chairmen of the convention were: Darlene Schmidt, invitations; Mary Ann Townsend, lunch; Judy Gavin, hostesses; Colleen Kane, coffee hour; Mary Glennis Thompson, posters; and Mel Sanders, entertainment.

New SISEA officers for the year are: Sally Schlegel, vice-president; Cecilia McLaughlin, secretary; and Geraldine Guzzardo, treasurer.

Children's Theater Starts Second Year

Repeating last year's program, two Clarke drama majors are conducting children's theatre classes every Saturday morning from 9:30 to 11 in Terence Donaghoe hall. Patricia Zalewski, senior, will work with 11 to 13 year old children while Barbara Conley, sophomore, will instruct the age group between 7 and 10.

Simple pantomimes of stories and poems compose the curriculum. The children's discussion creates the action and dialogue for the stories. Every action is creative. The dialogue is never written. Therefore, each time it is different.

Goin' Places?

Call Dubuque Travel Bureau
Dial 3-7318
572 Locust Street

Sixteen Clarkites Appear With Music And Drama At APO Sneak Preview

Sixteen Clarkites will appear in the APO Sneak Preview at Loras college tomorrow night. Seniors performing are Felice Lownik and Ardyth Peters.

Appearing with Alan Shokemel, Barbara Becklenberg will present her own composition. Mary Alice Mayer will dance.

The Bali Ha'i group introduced at the freshman program will also perform in the Loras production. Members are Joan Evans, Mary Beth Volgar, Marilyn Hyndman, Mary Ellyn Mueller, Noel Ocen, Adelaide Reilly, Barbara Reusch and Erin Theile. Mary Lou Mittlel is accompanist for the group. Other accompanists for Clarke and Loras performers are Beth Bongirno, Rosemary Kautzky and Patti Pederson.

SPRING SEMESTER 1960

Institute of European Studies arranges English taught courses through the University of Vienna. Emphasis on learning German. Students live with Austrian families, take meals at the IES student center. Three Study Tours through 8 countries when the University is not in session.

5 1/2 MONTHS IN EUROPE $1395

Price covers round trip ocean travel, room, board, tuition and study tours. SAILING: Moosdam, Feb. 4, New York APPLICATION DEADLINE: Dec. 10, 1959 For further information, write to:

INSTITUTE OF EUROPEAN STUDIES
35 E. Wacker Chicago 1

Sparkle Spoofs

"A place n ment . . . I wa dark magic of Ogle in Act On cans who jour wrote his first fall production tourists is 8:15 The revue to make a trip "grand tour n States includin

Senior Focuses

Shades of blu predominate in view," senior an Glennis Thomso open in the c Josita hall Nov through Nov. 15 Works of in cluding room c

M. G. Thomson orite piece of th table of blue glass in an abs oils will also be piece exhibit.

Miss Thomson Ill., has studied under Sister M BVM, Sister Mr. Edmund Der tor Garcia. At Ra Chicago she st Skaggs and Mi She is a membe Art Association.

A tea from 3 will initiate the is a partial f bachelor of arts

General chair is Patricia Zoba tea are Elizabeth line Jankowski, and Mary Ann moderator is S Ann.

Behind Milwaukee, a stage sets f Miss Sigmund Wis., designe